

Les Atouts

The HSE organization has imposed smoke controls and the use of respiratory protection equipment for welding activities since last February in all of the United Kingdom.

New HSE regulation in the UK!

The HSE organization has imposed smoke controls and the use of respiratory protection equipment for welding activities since last February in all of the United Kingdom.

Based on a new study by the International Agency for Research on Cancer, HSE highlights the proven risks of lung and kidney cancer for welders.

There is no doubt that these new criteria around welders protection will quickly spread to all European countries.